

Amanda's biography

I was born in Hull before attending Lincoln University for a degree in Journalism and Communication studies.

Having returned To Hull I began working for Natwest after my step mum got me the job.

The job was supposed to be temporary however, I enjoyed interacting with customers so chose to stay. I have now been with NatWest for 13 years and worked in numerous different roles before becoming a community banker 2 years ago. I now spend my time educating community groups on topics such as scam awareness.
