

Dr Kevin Byron

Kevin undertook research in telecommunications for twenty-five years. He later developed a passion for education and taught at the University of Leicester and then at Queen Mary University of London. More recently he undertook research in creative thinking skills in art and science, and has published and lectured widely to a variety of audiences on his interest in these subjects