

Jenny Scruton, Biography

I was a music teacher in a previous existence, and since I retired some years ago, I have put together a number of different talks. It started with a single talk for our local Arts Society and has since mushroomed into a variety of subjects for Probus, History groups, and other Arts Societies, though this will be the first time I have been to a u3a meeting. I fill my retirement as a steward and researcher at Burton Constable, I sing in two Beverley choirs and I am secretary of Holderness Arts Society. In my spare time I wrestle with the weeds and the rabbits in our large garden.
